Judy Ross Textiles

The fall 2011 collection from this Manhattan-based studio highlights a hand-drawn lanternlike form that Ross, the firm's principal, borrowed from a kimono print which, in her words, she then "did my magic on." The resulting knotted Tabla lanolin-rich rug features a dark-fig field overlaid by oyster Tibetan wool in a low sheared pile, along with scatterings of parchment and melon-orange silk a millimeter high. Custom colors are also an option. 212-842-1705; judyrosstextiles.com. circle 526

Warp & Weave

Expensive, handmade flatweaves are limited in their regional availability as their production is labor-intensive. However, a keenly researched process in the rugs and carpets processed by vegetable dyes, an unusual one-off dye, the color of the fabric in this collection.
